

What is Multiview all About.....

The “Multiview Experience”

First, welcome to the Multiview world of quality products, people and processes. Unlike the companies we compete against, Multiview is the manufacturer of our software. The benefit to client companies is Multiview controls all the processes, end to end, which leaves us a great deal of flexibility in solving business issues that other suppliers simply can't address.

For more than two decades, Multiview has provided what we refer to as the “Multiview Experience”, a successful, timely implementation and “Go Live” supported by a staff dedicated to the highest quality process coupled with a positive “can do” attitude! A highly skilled, professional staff, comprised of CPA's, MBA's and CA's whose motivation is geared to addressing your business issues efficiently, at the lowest cost using state-of-the-art applications and the best creative thinking drives the “Multiview Experience”.

Since Multiview manufactures our own products, we are in full control of, and responsible for, the quality of every element of products and services delivered to our clients. From the time you first engage a response from Multiview until you have a successful “Go Live” you will deal strictly with Multiview employees whose only goal is the successful implementation for each of our client partners.....That's the “Multiview Experience”!

Multiview is considered to be the best value proposition in the market today.

Company Overview and Market Presence

Multiview has been providing powerful, easy-to-use, sophisticated financial applications to the North American market for over two decades. Our market niche is focused on financials only and spans all three market segments: small, medium and large enterprise organizations. Multiview clients reside in over 40 industries. Our clients' revenues range from $10 million dollars to over $550 billion dollars. A “typical” Multiview client is between $30 million dollars in revenue and $3 billion dollars in revenue and is listed on one of the major North American stock exchanges (NYSE, NASDAQ, AMEX or the TSX). Multiview is a unique supplier in this market because our products are industrial strength with enormous functionality and the ability to handle large transaction volumes, yet very affordable. Our goal and motivation is the successful implementation of our products. Over time, we have established ourselves as a premier solution for small, medium and enterprise organizations looking for quality software and a supplier who can execute.

Our forte is superior reporting! Multiview has, with our ViewPoint reporting environment, a single tool that offers: financial, BI analytics, ad hoc reporting & inquiry all driven by a point and click/drag and drop interface.

Simply put.....Multiview is known as a company that provides superior quality products running on state-of-the-art technology coupled with unparalleled support and service!
